Dear Readers / Research Scholars,

‘A Stitch in time saves nine’ is a famous proverb in English. It gives us a valuable message which must be kept in mind always. Most of the people do not mind the lapses or defects of their project or work in the beginning. They feel that they are not so important and may be rectified at any time. But this negligence costs us a major damage later. The lapses that we ignore in the beginning may cause a total damage to the project or effort. There will be no use by repenting afterwards. So my dear Readers and Research Scholars we should not give scope to this attitude in our attempts or endeavours. Let us be cautious from the beginning and avoid the repercussions in future.

*“A Stitch in time saves nine
It is the way to be happy and fine”*
